

A tall item, four lines deep, so the line it sits on is well over a hundred pixels and

A short one

A middling one, two lines the page boundary falls squarely inside it.

The line after moves whole

A column container's items stack the way a block's children do, so a break between two of them is an ordinary break and the container is not moved whole.