

A sentence with a phrase held together in the middle of it.

A sentence with a phrase that is far too long to fit on any line of this paragraph in it.

A sentence whose held phrase still lets the words either side of it break as usual across the line.

A held phrase holding a loose one that may break again and again inside the held one inside it here.

A sentence with Antidisestablishmentarianism and then some in it.