

Text before  and text after, with enough words following to wrap the line and show how the image sits among them.